Cordially invites you to a talk by

Prof. Adrian Cioroianu,

University of Bucharest, Former Minister of Foreign Affairs of Romania

Romanians and Jews facing the Great War

Sunday, March 22nd 2015, 10-12AM

Rabin Observatory, Rabin's Building, University of Haifa

Greetings: Prof. Gur Alroey, Chair of the School of History

Respondent: Prof. Raphael Vago, Tel Aviv University

The talk will explore the various situations of the Romanians and Jews during the Great War, from their identity status to their contribution and struggle in the historical background. The lecture will also include references to the situation and life of the Romanian Jewry during the interwar period, as well as to the recent rise of Anti-Semitism and right wing parties in today's Europe.

Adrian Cioroianu is a Romanian professor, author, historian, journalist and essayist. He is currently a university professor and the Dean of the Faculty of History at the University of Bucharest. Between 2007 and 2008 he was the Romanian Minister of Foreign Affairs.
