

"Romanian philosophy represents in our view the systematic argumentation by means of which a consciousness formed in the local milieu succeeds to put together the truths validated by science and the innermost beliefs of its own particular experience. (...) The Romanian element in our philosophy does not reside in the kind of knowledge we reflect upon (because this is the common knowledge furnished by the science), but in the intimate attitude of the reflective subject."

C. RĂDULESCU-MOTRU (1868-1957)