

17 OCTOBER - 13 NOVEMBER 2020

ROMANIA ROCKS

ROMANIAN - BRITISH LITERATURE FESTIVAL

*The first ever Romanian-British Literature Festival.
Four weeks of interviews, films, workshops & performances with the brightest & best literary minds from both countries.*

Why "Romania Rocks"?

*Romania definitely does rock & we want to show you how.
It's also home to a stunning phenomenon of living, growing rock formations called "trovants" – a powerful metaphor for our unique festival.*

*Brought to you by the Romanian Cultural Institute, London
& the European Literature Network*

19 October - 12 November | RCI London & online

Our headline Interview series of outstanding “rock star” authors. The best and brightest Romanian and British literary brains meet to discuss their work, their countries and those issues close to their hearts.

CRAFTING STORIES. MAKING YOUR OWN MUSEUM

Online workshop with Marlene Stanciu

What stories do the objects that we value tell, and how can we tell these stories in a meaningful way? Artist Marlene Stanciu will guide us in creating small personal museums by unveiling some fascinating objects that she and her partner, Alex Herberth, saved and brought back to life in their traditional house in the village of Cincu, Transylvania.

24 Oct, 2pm, online

STORIES TO REMEMBER. CREATING UNIQUE CHARACTERS

Illustration workshop with Axel Scheffler based on a short story by writer and translator Florin Bican

Axel Scheffler has illustrated some of the world's most-loved children's books and has created the one and only Gruffalo. Working on a text by Florin Bican, who craftily rewrites classical Romanian folktales, Axel will show us the process behind creating an exceptional character.

Florin Bican is well-known for his jolly translations of the famous children's books created by Julia Donaldson and Axel Scheffler, but also for his own brilliant, playful writing.
